SYLVAN LAKEALBERTA'S ENGLISH BAY

(By C. E. Colwell, Vulcan Correspondent.)

That Sylvan Lake is fast becoming one of the most popular and attractive summer resorts in Western Canada, is evidenced by the fact that for the past two months every available cottage, boarding house and hotel accommodation has been taxed to the limit in taking care of out-of-town visitors and holiday parties, bent on spending anything from a few days to two months in this delightful spot, nestled in the woods of Central Alberta. Unlike most other Alberta inland lakes, Sylvan Lake has a gently sloping, fine sandy beach that lends itself to perfect bathing facilities for the children as well as the grownups, and huge parties of jolly bathers and boaters are to be seen dispersing themselves in the clear, warm waters of the lake from early morning until the late hours of the evening. Sylvan Lake is situated about 11 miles west of Red Deer, and midway between Calgary and Edmonton, and is within easy motoring distance of either city. The splendid roads attract many motoring parties who arrive in large numbers to spend the weekend or longer. The Lake is abundant with large pike and perch, and, if so inclined, an early morning rise will assure the angler a nice breakfast of fresh fish. The clumps of tall poplar trees surrounding the lake afford the very finest camping grounds, and at present they are dotted thickly with tents and many other things were still there. A young lady in the party seated herself at the piano and played Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata." After she had finished she turned to the guide and remarked, "I presume many travellers come to this famous place."

"Yes," replied the guide. "Paderewski was here last year." The young lady was interested to know that such a famous pianist as Paderewski had been there, and being quite interested, she asked, "And did he play on Beethoven's piano?" "No," replied the guide. "He said he was not worthy." Great men and women are not very common. Their desire is not to show off, for there is more important work in this world to do than that. They feel that they are not worthy of much which the world does for them, but all the time they are doing for others. The truly great person does not have to put himself forward; in fact he will not. He is like John the Baptist, who, telling the people that Jesus was coming after him, said that the Messiah was so much greater and better than he was that he himself was not worthy to unlatch the latchet of the Messiah's shoe. Dead Jesus was even more humble than any other person, teaching a beautiful lesson of humility the last thing in His earthly life, saying He came not to be ministered unto but to minister. That is true humility, a Christian virtue.

The annual regatta, held in July of each year, is one of the premier aquatic events of the Province, and the success of the one had this year assured a regatta day for succeeding years as a permanent institution. The Sylvan Lake Publicity Association, under the able direction of Mr. H. W. Wilson, is making great strides in making the attractions at the lake as up-to-date as possible, and an extensive program of improvements is now under consideration. Dinners are held under the auspices of the Association, twice each week, the proceeds being devoted to the erection and installation of the various improvements. A pavilion on the lake front will be erected next year; a sports ground will in all probability be laid out as, also, a good nine hole golf course for the lovers of the royal and ancient game. The town itself is supported by a good mixed farming country, and is gradually going ahead. Many of the visitors who are spending their vacation here are content-

WARSAW IS SAVED FROM BOLSHEVIKI

Poles Have Taken Offensive and Are No Longer Forced to Fight Defensive Battle

Paris, August 18.—(Warsaw now seems to be saved from the Bolsheviks. President Pilsudski's armies no longer are obliged to fight a defensive battle and the offensive on both wings have reached the first objectives and the Poles appear to be pausing before attempting to develop their success.

The offensive on the left wing is being personally led by the French generals, Henry and Billotte, and already has yielded important results. It has once more put the Poles in possession of the key to Warsaw defense—the fork between the Narew and Bug rivers—while the forces advancing toward Mlawa which have reached Tachanoff, 12 miles to the south of Mlawa, will force the Bolsheviks marching toward Plock and Thorn to beat a hasty retreat and consequently re-open the road-line to Danzig.

But the Poles now on the right wing, along the line of Garwolin and Paratoff, between the Vistula and the Bug, is the more interesting of the two from the strategic viewpoint, because it threatens the communications of the main Bolshevik forces. Swealed by troops freed by shortening the front in the Brody region, the movement already has gained headway and driven the Bolsheviks back all along the line toward Bratslavsk for distances varying from 25 to 50 miles.

TROTSKY SPEAKS OF TWO CENTERS TO POLISH FRONT
Moscow, Aug. 18.—Soviet Russia's position on both the Polish and South Russian fronts was pronounced "generally satisfactory" by Leon Trotsky, Bolshevik war minister, in an address here today. The speech was delivered at a meeting of the Moscow Soviet.

Discussing the military situation, Trotsky declared that on the front against White Poland, our red troops have fulfilled the fundamental part of their task. The holding up of our advanced troops before Warsaw in no way alters the state of affairs, all the more as the Polish front now divides into two parts—military and diplomatic—and possesses two centers—one in Warsaw and the other in Minsk.

"The peace negotiations at Minsk are of exceptional importance," continued the war minister, "because they are developing the unstable foundation of a stormy movement among the workers. Great Britain also is pushing through an unending display of excitement among her workers in connection with the peace negotiations between Russia and Poland."

"On General Wrangel's front," he added, "we are opening the gates wide to our enemies, but we shall assault them in the flank and rear. The fate of the revolution will be decided on the Polish front. This is why we have concentrated our forces in the west and are only leaving posts on the southern front to hold up Wrangel's advance."

"WONDERFUL," SAYS VANCOUVER WOMAN

"I Have Gained Twelve Pounds and Am Perfectly Well Since Taking Tanlac."

"I have gained twelve pounds in weight and am feeling perfectly well in every respect, and it is all due to Tanlac," said Mrs. M. Lund, 427 Sixth Avenue, West, Vancouver, B.C., recently.

"For over a year," continued Mrs. Lund, "I had indigestion so bad that I didn't know what it was to enjoy a single meal. My appetite got so poor that the most delicious meal, no matter how well prepared, failed to tempt me, and even the little I did eat soured on my stomach and caused me to have such a stuffy, nauseated feeling I thought I would choke. I was troubled with constipation and had to take laxatives constantly. Nearly every day I had fearful headache spells which would start in the upper part of my neck and rise up into my head, making me miserable from morning till night. I was so nervous that the little noises I used to pass by unnoticed would upset me completely. Many times at night I lay awake for three or four hours before I could get to sleep, and then the least sound would wake me up, and in the mornings I was so tired out I hardly had strength enough to get out of bed, and I would have to sit around awhile before I was able to get about the house. "So many people here in Vancouver had taken Tanlac and were so well pleased with it that I made up my mind to give it a trial. In all I took five bottles, and it is just simply wonderful how much I have improved. My appetite was never better in my life. Why, I have to eat a snack before I go to bed at night, and I don't have a touch of indigestion any more. I never have to take a laxative now, and I am free from constipation. My nerves are calm and I sleep soundly all night long. I have already gained twelve pounds, and I am still gaining in weight and strength right along. Every bit of the praise it is getting all over the country."

Tanlac is sold in Red Deer by Galt-Cornett Drug & Book Co., and by the leading druggist in every town.

The Spirit of The Mutual

THE spirit of the Mutual is reflected in the well-known slogan of the company—"we aim to furnish the largest amount of sound life insurance for the least possible outlay."

The spirit of the Mutual is therefore the spirit of public service, and to achieve its purpose, much unselfish effort and even of sacrifice has gone into the building up of the organization. The good of the many, not personal profit, is the secret of the wonderful success of the Mutual of Canada.

To see such an altruistic institution as the Mutual Life of Canada planted and growing, and year by year widening the area of its protecting branches is the motive of the leaders of the company.

In the last five years the business of the company has doubled; the next five will probably see a similar development. Fifty years of Public Service have revealed to the people of Canada the spirit of the Mutual which is the spirit of co-operative service.

EDITORS' VISIT SURE TO TIGHTEN BONDS OF EMPIRE

This the Dominating Note at Impressive Banquet Tendered by Calgary to Distinguished Journalists from All Parts of British Realm.

In a thrilling speech, which was punctuated at frequent intervals, Lord Burnham, the chairman of the Imperial Press delegation, at a citizens' banquet tendered the visitors at the Palladium Hotel, Calgary, Thursday evening, dealt with the bonds of British freedom, which he said none but the anarchist or the madman wished to eliminate or destroy.

"The British empire is good enough for us," he remarked. He could not believe that its freedom could be much greater, and although here and there there may be some malcontents who probably wanted to gain some little notoriety by some singularly objectionable utterance, the British empire stood, as it has always stood, for the freedom of the world, and they believed in their hearts that it would be a bad day when the British empire ceased to be the predominant power of the world's affairs.

The banquet was in every sense an outstanding and a successful success. In the first place, it was one of the largest attended and representative gatherings that had ever taken place in Calgary, and will undoubtedly be long remembered by the visiting Imperial pressmen.

OUTSTANDING FEATURE One of the outstanding features was the fact that there was no platitudes on the part of those who spoke in welcoming the visitors. Rather was there some very straight talk, which the Imperial press delegates, however much they might have been, notably was this the case when B. Bennett, K.C., pointed to a number of instances where the pressmen might help to further consolidate the bonds of the empire. His oration, together with that of Lord Burnham, were masterpieces of rhetoric and were applauded to the echo.

COMPLETE RECIPROcity. Lord Burnham in continuing his address remarked that the Imperial press was not doing by Great Britain as fairly as Canada was doing to Great Britain. "One of the advantages of this tour," said his lordship, "is to convince us and all those to that to maintain the strength and sympathy of our unity there must be complete reciprocity of benefit, and you can rely upon it that there will be no one who is more willing to stand for fair treatment of this great Dominion than the writers of the British press assembled in this hall."

In a lighter vein his lordship referred to his being created a chief of the Blackfoot Indians earlier on in the day. "I wish here and now to thank the parliament of Canada for having passed a resolution forbidding titles to be conferred, but they might have included the title of Indian Chief," he added, much laughter. "I also if the time comes when the house of parliament to which I belong disappears into the limbo of forgotten things that I may still have that distinction which no act of parliament can take away."

SIGNIFICANT AND SOLEMN Speaking most solemnly, his lordship said that to his mind there was not only something significant, but something most solemn in the ceremonial to which he had referred. The Indians appeared themselves to invest that dignity into which existed two centuries ago, and he was glad to find that had been preserved in the character of the Indians today, because it spoke so much of their good treatment by the government and the people of Canada. Those whom they saw were contented with their lot and prosperous in their lives. "I wish the same thing could be said of all parts of the American continent," added his lordship. "I think this is a distinction which British rule in Canada, and Canadian rule afterwards can take to its credit."

THE HUMAN TOUCH Referring to a remark of the mayor when the speeches commenced that those in the further end of the room might draw a little nearer to the speakers, in which his lordship used the words "get together," Lord Burnham remarked that it was "it was that sentiment of 'getting together' that had prompted the pressmen to visit Canada. Facts and figures presented in tables and statistics might be all very well for men whose minds were simply the reflex of Blue Books, but to the ordinary citizen it was just the human touch which counted and he believed there was a real magnetism of which they got the benefit in learning at first hand what the Dominion of Canada really was.

"MOONSHINE ON EARTH" The prime ministers of Europe recognized that it was a statesmanlike thing to "get together." "We can say that this is a thing that our ourselves, coming together in friendship and cordiality, can analyze us to understand one another. We can tell you more benefit than I can tell you from breathing the free and spacious air of Canada," he said. He had remained a few minutes earlier to the lady mayors, he said, that what they felt was the large advantage of the oxygen in the air, but that lady had marked, he added, amid laughter, that it was "moonshine on earth." Possibly there might be a subtle meaning in what she had said, but he still stuck to oxygen in the air. It had done them good, and he remarked that it would be an excellent thing if others were to follow in their footsteps.

GLEAMS OF INTELLIGENCE It would be a good thing, he said, if statesmen and those who had the care of their fate in their hands were to visit the great dominions beyond the seas, and the members of the houses of parliament. He might go further and say that all the present ailments might do well to leave their work rooms at Downing street and Whitehall and see little of the great expanse of Western Canada and note the growth of its infant cities. "Least something should be done," said the speaker, "in order that a gleam of real intelligence, which comes from knowing men as well as things, should break through the clouds of official ignorance and official apathy." He believed that the men of his party would appreciate the better the greatness of their dominion by their visit."

THIS CLEAR IDEA His lordship said they would carry back with them one clear idea. It was not the limitless space of the prairies, or any other part of that continent, but the secret of Canada's greatness was the marvelous enterprise of its citizens. He said that it seemed strange to him that when he was last in those parts he saw great piles of buffalo bones and grim-aced stations and in passing he saw a great tribute to the Canadian Pacific Railway for their enterprise in linking up the Atlantic with the Pacific in the manner they had done. The company, he said, had shown much foresight and much imagination.

A LARGER DUTY R. B. Bennett, K.C., who had preceded Lord Burnham in proposing the toast of "Our Guests," emphasized what he appreciated the pleasure of proposing the toast, he did so with great measures of diffidence. He recognized in the press, he said, "one of the greatest factors in the world's progress." He was only contented in extending a welcome to our friends from overseas, it would be a simple matter, but he conceived it a larger duty to endeavor in some way to interpret the genius of Canadian civilization and how it reflected the spirit of the people.

ACHIEVEMENTS ACCOMPLISHED The speaker reminded his hearers that the two western provinces were but a few years old, and he asked them to reflect upon the achievements that had been accomplished. The first essential had been the provision made for education. Go to any community they may in those two provinces and they found that the most imposing building was a school house. In the second place provision had been made for the health and happiness of the people; in the third place for hospitals, and in the last place in the care of the mothers of the nation. "They were not all," he believed, "in all their institutions they would find reflected the hopes and aspirations of the people. When they realize how great were their problems, how great their difficulties, they would catch a glimpse of what the early pioneers did for civilization, he said."

PREDOMINANT NOTE Incidentally Mr. Bennett referred to the difficulty the people to the south of the line had in understanding the British monarchic system, and that under it there was greater freedom than of any country in the world. For good or ill, such was the predominant note of their civilization.

Referring to various problems that confronted the people, Mr. Bennett stated they were not despairing, however; they were not even discouraged, and would stick to the sentiment of those who had said: "We found this country British, and British we will leave it."

CONSIDERATION "Canada, after all," continued Mr. Bennett, "is entitled to some consideration. We have blazed a trail where there was no pathway. Do you realize this? Whatever else may be said about us we at least have the proud distinction of showing to the world by a nation may be born with separate the links that bind us to the motherland."

Who there would, continued the speaker, in referring to closer relationship with the old country, was that Britain bought more from them; that Canada bought more from Britain; that Britain invested her surplus capital here. They believed that there was more safety for investment in their land under the old flag. He referred to the embargo placed upon Canadian cattle in Britain, remarking that while the United States had put on a tariff, Britain had stated it would not have their cattle at all because they were suffering from disease, when they, as Canadians, knew they were not.

MAINTAIN INSTITUTIONS. "Whatever may be the 'ultimate destiny of this great land,' concluded Mr. Bennett, "I can say with certainty, reflecting, I am sure, the minds of those who live within its borders, that we are determined to maintain to the best of our ability, inviolate, the great institutions of our civilization and Empire."

TRIBUTE TO THE LADIES In proposing the toast to the ladies, T. M. Tweedie, M.P.P., said that it seemed like a travesty to ask him to take that particular part in the program of the evening, and that he was sincerely conscious of not only the honor that had been done him, but also of the responsibility which devolved upon him. He felt that the whole press tour across Canada would have been a failure without the lady members of the Imperial press party. Speaking generally, the world today without the women, who all through the war had done quite as much toward the maintenance and protection of the Empire as the men, through their indefatigable service in all lines of war activity, would not be so well governed, so advanced in all that tends toward the betterment of the race.

LADY NEWNES' APPRECIATION Lady Newnes, replying on behalf of the visiting ladies, began by saying that she wanted, first of all, to thank Mr. Tweedie for the charming things he had said about the lady members of the party making the Canadian tour of the representative of the Imperial press a success. She believed, as the opinion that the real arrangements that had been made everywhere for their entertainment and comfort.

A GREAT PLEASURE "I have always been told that I should not tell the Canadians anything," said Lady Newnes, "and meeting with you has been even a greater pleasure than I had anticipated. The thing that I have enjoyed most in this tour has been the opportunity of meeting you and taking in with the most delightful hospitality, absolutely devoid of fuss or formality. They have made us feel from the start the real bond of British relationship, and I am afraid that we have made us feel that it will be very hard to say goodbye to them when we must. On behalf of the other lady members of our party, whom the people of Calgary have made such a pleasant day, I wish our brothers and sisters of the nation Godspeed in their undertaking, and the best of good luck."

During the evening some excellent dancing and dancing numbers were staged by pupils of the McDonald Dancing Academy, those taking part being the Misses Green, Smith, Georgia Playfair, Helen Lee, Dorothy Wilson, and Master Bobbie Durao.

"CONSARN IT, THAT'S TOO BAD, SEE WHAT A PESKY HIGH REPUTATION I'VE GOT TO LIVE UP TO NOW!"

A good Deacon went down East on a visit, and while there another man of the same name died in his home town. On the deacon's return, he was much surprised to find his obituary in the local paper with many flattering comments. But this only seemed to annoy the good deacon, who said to his wife, "Consarn it, that's too bad. Just see what a pesky high reputation I've got to live up to now!"

This story reminds us that this yard has a high reputation to live up to also. For many years we have maintained a reputation for selling only reliable and satisfactory Lumber and Building Material, with the result that buyers have come to look upon us as a concern they can implicitly rely upon for both quality and price.

You bet we're going to keep it up, too, for only by winning our customers' confidence, and guarding their best interests, can we hope to preserve our own.

Your wants are satisfied—not merely filled at this yard.

THE NEWS WEEKLY SERMON

By Rev. G. D. Armstrong

This is my commandment that ye love one another as I have loved you. —John 15:12.

The Gospel of John was the last book of the Bible to be written. It represents a more mature thought of the Christian faith, and the personality of Jesus, the Christ and His mission to the world. It is the fullest of Jewish Theology and of Greek Philosophy. Each culminates in the Gospel of Christ. The great teacher is the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world. The mission of Jesus to the world is that the horizons of life may be widened; the narrow walls of division transcended; and the content of life intensified and enriched. "I am come that they might have life abundantly."

In the fourth Gospel we find a marked change of emphasis from the earlier Gospels, and the teaching of Jesus is expressed in simple statements of fact.

The whole duty of life is summed up in the statement of our text, "Love one another as I have loved you."

During the past century the church has insisted upon certain great truths. The Son of Man has been invested with the glory of the Son of God. The life, death and personality of Jesus is seen to be the highest and best expression of the Christ spirit. He has "come to the ages what He was to the first disciples—'Life's Ideal'."

The creeds of the church have been built upon this foundation, and we have emphasized the necessity of having right ideas concerning Him as the very essentials of the Christian life.

In our insistence upon this form of the Gospel we have tended to overlook or to obscure other aspects of Christianity which are quite as scriptural and under present conditions may have an even more vital significance.

Our religious life is mediated today not so much through meditation through action. The attitude of our minds is critical rather than receptive. We accept less and less the tradition of truth which come to us by tradition, from the lips of priests. We are more inclined to lean to the voice of prophets who present the truth in new forms and accept as binding upon us the truths that are verified by reason and tested by experience.

Many souls regard this changed attitude in the temper of our age with grave distrust and are appalled with what appears to them a growing spirit of indifference and unbelief. It is not to be wondered that those who find the golden age of Christianity in the first centuries should be seriously disturbed by the processes that are at work in the world today. But we need not despair. Christianity itself is passing through the stages of progress through which the mind of Jesus Himself passed.

In the first century the Golden period of the history was in the atmosphere of simple piety which surrounded the life of Jesus could not fail to express his sensitive and reverent heart. He Himself was regular in his attendance at the services of the Synagogue.

His attitude toward the religious people and institutions was marked however by a spirit of independence. He realized that "the letter killeth and the spirit giveth life" and grasped the truth that was permanent and universal in all that the Jews had handed down as the common inheritance of Israel. Pondering upon the great messengers and masters of the past, He reasserted the truth, not echoing the past but voicing anew the living truth of God with authority. He realized that His relationship to God was personal, immediate and real. His was not the authority of external form but the power of the spirit of God.

So here, in His relationship with the disciples, He adopts the same principle and sends forth His disciples in the same manner in which He Himself was commissioned. The life that was in Him was to be in them also. They were to share in the Christhood of the Nazarene, to be impelled by the self-same spirit of faith in God.

As a modern preacher puts it, "The faith of Jesus" was a wholehearted "dedication to self giving love." He worked in that way, so was to Him the will of God.

For Jesus, then, it was, as Sabatier has expressed it, "Faith in Christ means the living over again, within ourselves, the inner spiritual life of Christ to feed the presence of the Eternal Father, and the reality of our filial relation to Him. Just as Jesus felt in Himself the Father's presence and His filial relation to Him."

This then is the basis upon which the commandment of our text is given to us. We cannot receive it unless we share His nature. We cannot carry out its requirements unless we are like Him in our attitude toward God and man; unless we are Christ-like in character, in thought, feeling and purpose.

We must interpret its meaning in the light of Jesus' character. His actions and His words. The most striking feature in the character of Jesus was His absolute constant obedience to what He knew was the will of God, and growing out of this His reverence and love for mankind, even the least and meanest kind. Jesus was interested in people, in those who are leaders and not less in those who are followers. We are learning of the Christ man through the revelation of Jesus Christ. This is not mere sentiment. There is a challenge in the words of Jesus: an ideal to be realized; a standard to be lived up to; a life to be attained. And the only way we have to pay is the surrender of ourselves to His will. His words are not a suggestion which we may disregard at our pleasure, but a command which we ignore at our peril.

Are our impulses selfish or are they sacrificial? Do we reverence the personality of others to such an extent that the service of mankind is the all-consuming and hallowing passion of our lives?

IDLE THOUGHTS OF A BUSY FARMER

We have a chicken here who thinks he is a duck. Our old woman set some duck eggs under a hen. At the same time they hatched another hen hatched a bunch of chickens. One of those was a different color from the others, and that old hen said: "The was no sucker—you couldn't land. Any chicken on her. She took a solemn oath she wasn't the mother of that chick, and she was not running a foundling hospital, so the off-colored fellow was chased away the sin of the world. The old woman slipped this chick in with the ducklings. The hen in charge of them was so mortified at seeing the peculiar bunch of chickens she had developed that she was indifferent as to number or quality of her brood. The chick threw well with the ducklings, and now the hen has thrown them off by parading with the ducks but will not associate with the other chickens. His only trouble is the water question. He says prohibition may be alright, but you may have too much water. He fails to see any fun in shoving his head to the bottom of the creek and shooting the sun with his tail.

Why are the Bentley pool room boys like the flowers of the field? Because they toil not, neither do they spin, yet Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of them (when they go to a dance).

"Did you think my speech stirred the audience?" inquired Mayor Lord. "I wouldn't exactly say it stirred them," replied Alderman Broughton. "I would rather say it mixed them up."

"This lettuce tastes beastly, did you wash it?" "Of course I did, and I used Rawleigh's performed soap, too."

In the sweet silence of twilight they honeymooned on the beach at Sylvia Lake. "Dearest," she murmured tremblingly. "Now that we are married, I—I—have a secret to tell you."

"What is it, darling?" he asked softly. "My left eye is made of glass!" "Never mind, sweetheart," he whispered gently, "so are the diamonds in your engagement ring."

Bill Bink being anxious to see Ed. Bink, he said, sold his wife's cow to raise the necessary funds. His wife, when he found where he had gone and by what means, decided that this love, honor and obey business was all piffle, and has departed for the south. We heard her destination was somewhere in the U.S.A.

Considerable trouble is experienced at present in circumnavigating the streets of Bentley after nightfall on account of a certain gentleman's boots. His shack being small and the boots large, he leaves them out of doors during the night to give him room to change his mind before mugging. This interferes with traffic, and motorists object to taking bye-streets to avoid this obstruction. At the next City council meeting it will be proposed to offer John Poling half a crown a month to come nightly with his dray and haul the boots off to a vacant lot, returning them in the morning. Constable Walse proposed to impound the boots for obstructing traffic throughout, but Chief Justice Birch pointed out that if the boots were kept in the shack, the gentleman would have to sleep out of doors, and he would advise them to put up with the lesser evil.

It is very nice for Overland car owners to have an Overland garage man but it seems overdoing it when our road makers get obsessed with the idea that every one owns an Overland Light-four and desire the roads to be built as demonstration grounds for the new suspension, cantilever, back action springs. For a couple of weeks we had an A1 road for this purpose west of Bentley. Joking aside this road was sure rough during reconstruction, but Philo has tackled the work in the right spirit. Every spring this road is a heart-breaking proposition to the councilors. So far they have been afraid to get right down to brass tacks because it looked like spending money, but Philo is either going to make a road or break his reputation.

We are O.K. on Bills here. Starting on section 1 we have Bill Rorick. Following the town line come Bill Kennedy, Bill Ballie, Bill Donaldson, Bill Lehman, Billy Heddeson and Billy O'Neill. To keep it up Bill Tees owns a quarter section on the town line, and for extra measure and to show there is no hard feeling, we have to the north and south of Bill Miller, Bill Malcolm and Bill Reid.

RAILWAY PROBLEMS

Judging from reports which reach us from the United States, the Canadian Pacific, Canada is not the only country which has a railway problem. Our neighbors are at their wits end to know how to effectively deal with their transportation problems. With much of their rolling stock practically worn out and the serious state of unrest which exists among railroad employees, the general situation is chaotic. This is cold comfort for Canadians, but it helps a little to know that we are not alone in our troubles.

Once in a while a venturesome journalist, in these days when "public ownership" is almost a craze, hazards the opinion that the Canadian Pacific Railway is a very well managed organization which does good service efficiently and economically. Such a declaration of faith sometimes brings down upon the head of the author a bitter onslaught from some public ownership advocate. It is therefore encouraging to note that the Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways of the Dominion Cabinet, publicly admits that the Canadian Pacific Railway with its 20,000 miles of track, 250,000 tons of ocean shipping, and its chain of great hotels, is a sample par excellence of a well conducted enterprise.

"We are not rivals of the Canadian Pacific Railway in anything but a friendly sense," he said, "but my view is that there is room for two great railways in Canada, and that it is better for the people and for the development of Canada that there should be two competing systems."

Mr. Reid's attitude appeals to us as being the proper one. The Canadian Pacific Railway is recognized as an institution which looks upon service as the primary to business, and we trust Mr. Reid will be able to carry out his avowed intention of making the Canadian National system the equal in service and efficiency of the great sister railway system.

PLEASES THE HUN.

Count von Bernstorff, who prior to the entry of the United States into the war was German ambassador at Washington, and whose part in the plans for the sinking of the Lusitania and in the plots to embroil Mexico in a Teutonic-Mexican war with the neighboring Republic are history, has written a book. He calls it "Three Years, in America." It is significant that in this book von Bernstorff takes occasion to give a testimonial of appreciation to the notorious William Randolph Hearst and his traitorous publications.

Von Bernstorff's tribute to the Annals of American Journalism was not needed, says the Toronto Globe, to confirm the estimate placed upon him by all right-thinking Americans and citizens of the United States. But it is an important corroboration of the treachery of the creature. Von Bernstorff speaks cordially of "the consistently friendly attitude of the papers of the Hearst syndicate"—a friendliness which, the writer says, was added to by the exclusion of all Hearst publications from circulation in Canada.

Perhaps the most significant of all this German testimony to the service that the unspeakable Hearst rendered to the cause of Hohenzollernism—to defeat which so many ardent young Americans laid down their lives in Von Bernstorff's assurance that the publications of the Hearst syndicate, "with their sharp English tendency, do us more good than papers with an admitted pro-bias."

There can be no place in Canada for the publications of this traitor to his own country and enemy of everything British. The Hearst and the British have earned the scathing of all honorable people.

EXAMINER'S REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

Calgary, August 20.

Cattle.
There is a very drabgy market in Calgary during the week, and while the good stuff has not dropped seriously, the market is a weaker one, and on the stocker and feeder classes the markets are away down. Choice steers $2.00 to $2.25; good butchers $1.50 to $2.00; medium and common very slow sellers, and feeders getting good steers at from $7.50 to $8.50. Stock steers are much lower from $5.50 to $7.40. Cow stuff about the same as last week, but fat stocker cows and heifers have slumped badly with heifers from $5.50 to $6.25, and cows $4.50 to $6.10. Owing to drawbacks in American shipping it is a buyers' market on all stocker and feeder cattle. In other lines market fairly steady; bulls $5.00 to $5.50; best; calves, $9.00 to $10.50 on the best, and $6.00 to $8.00 on heavy ones.

Hogs.
At the Calgary market have been holding steady all week, with the quotation never far away from $20.50. Edmonton's hog prices have been stronger during the week, and towards last week end made $20.25, but during the week settled back to $20.00.

Sheep.
More sheep than usual have been offered at Calgary this week and prices are lower, except on lambs, which hold around $9.00 to $12.00; ewes, $7.00 to $7.50; weaners, $8.00 to $8.50.

Moderate prices still are quoted at Edmonton on sheep, with the lambs making a top of $9.50 during the week. Killing ewes are selling from $6.00 to $8.00; common from $4.50 to $5.00.

Horses.
No movement of any volume in light and medium horses, but the good heavy teams are bringing fairly good money.

Grain.
Wheat trading was resumed on Wednesday in Canada and the cash wheat at the end of the first day was quoted at $2.73 1/2, and Thursday had dropped to $2.69 1/2. Trading is somewhat limited until the markets are more accurately determined. Not during the week have been some fluctuations, but yesterday were back again to 93 1/2. Barley is steady, and Thursday was $1.13. Flax on Thursday was $3.46 1/2. Harvesting in Alberta is general, and the crops are turning off well.

Produce.
Not many changes in produce quotations at Calgary during the week. Eggs still firm around $15.50, loss off. No changes reported in butter, but creameries are predicting lower prices; butterfat prices unchanged; receipts about 100,000 lbs. Poultry arrivals light, and roosters and springs are getting easier, with roosters 16c to 18c, springs, 30c to 32c. New potatoes are easier, with market stalls paying $3.00 to $3.75 per cwt., and not taking heavy supplies. Carrots and cabbage have a lot of new from $1.00 to $2.50 per cwt.

Dairy butter at Edmonton is quoted a little lower, with the price around 11c. Butterfat prices are holding steady, with a price of 40c at cream stations. Receipts are showing up fairly satisfactory. Creameries are making shipments of butter to the market. Receipts are showing up around 60c, and considerable local storing is going on. Northern cheese prices are easier, with market stalls what, but were a little firmer and up to 27c. Eggs are now quoted at $15.60, straight receipts. The quality is low, with a great many rotten.

Wool.
There is a better tone to all the outside markets on wool, but dealers in Alberta are not doing much buying.

MID-SUMMER
HALF HOLIDAYS

Following our established and consistent policy of suspending business during the summer months on Wednesday at noon in each week in which there is not a Dominion or other holiday, we announce the half-holiday period for this year, beginning the first of June.

HORTICULTURAL SHOW A GREAT SUCCESS

quets and baskets were, for the most part, very nice indeed. Special mention should be made of the very marked improvement in the quality of the sweet pea blooms.

Mrs. Welliver's rubber plant (Pilea elastica) was shown in two sections, having been cut in two since last year's showing, when it threatened to dwarf everything else a sight. Next year maybe there will be four sections.

There was one freak flower, a flat-stemmed sweet pea carrying no less than nine blooms on the one stem.

Commissioner Stephenson, Messrs. T. S. Miller, Harry Russell and J. Redd were leading, as usual, a heavy exhibitors.

Mrs. A. Robertson and Mr. D. G. Horn, with Mrs. Annett, and in the flower classes Mesdames C. Stone and Welliver, were also large exhibitors.

There were about ten new exhibitors with the membership of the Society having about doubled, for the second year in succession.

The judging was very capably done by Mr. E. J. Stow, the chief gardener at Government House, Edmonton, who was also the judge at last year's show.

He and Mr. A. Paton, superintendent, both expressed themselves as well pleased with the quality of the exhibits.

The exhibition was free in the afternoon, and a small charge was made in the evening.

isn't at all likely, so why not take time by the forelock, and get your coal in now, before the rush.

Every year people wait until the first cold snap sends them scurrying to the coal office, and many have to wait for their coal as a result. By having your coal put in now, it's there the very first time you need it.

And by letting us put it in, you are absolutely assured of getting the cleanest, longest lasting, hottest and full weight coal your money can buy.

Empire Press Delegates in Evangeline's Land

(1) Delegates taking a bucket of water from Evangeline's well.

(2) The Statue of Evangeline just after the unveiling by Lady Burnham.

Five continents were represented at the unveiling of the statue of Evangeline, Grand Pre, Nova Scotia. Nearly all those present belonged to the Imperial Press Conference party, and the unveiling ceremony was performed by Lady Burnham, who said:

"Evangeline is the beautiful conception of an American poet whose verses we learnt to read on both sides of the Atlantic when we were children. History has shed another light on the Acadian story. We see today that British policy was not as black as it was painted. Whatever may be the truth of this story, as a woman, and an English woman, I shall always regard it as one of the most painful episodes in our annals. It is a page which has been behind us forever, and from the fate of Evangeline has sprung a great wave of sympathy which has been carried on the healing hand of time. It is a good omen that the beautiful sun, God's blessing, hand, should be resting upon all today, who are here to do honor to that sweet woman."

Under those rays in your wonderful land to full of beauty and promise the old hatred is dead. I have now the great honor and privilege of unveiling the statue of Evangeline. The statue, which is of bronze, is the work of Henri Hebert from a model by his father the late Philippe Hebert, a descendant of the Acadians of whom Evangeline was one. It is a magnificent work of art and was presented to the Park at Grand Pre by the Dominion Atlantic Railroad, which is now part of the C.P.R.

The Aftermath of Action

(By Henry Chas. Suter)

RISE FROM THE RUINS

The shock of war devastated the beautiful fields of France and Belgium, bringing desolation to many homes, and destroying in most places the industries. Not only was it the German's quest to impoverish the people, but all this destruction was wrought to demoralize them as well. In this we see the sign today of Germany's failure. They might destroy the property of these people, but no German ingenuity could destroy the intense love for industry that the people of France and Belgium possess. The Germans might dynamite the subsoil of France but could not destroy the love in the hearts of the French for the beautiful. The Germans might destroy the houses of the French and leave them to rack and ruin, but they could not kill the love for home within the hearts of the French and Belgians. Hence we see that with this abiding passion still within their souls, the French and Belgians are building anew the countries they love so dearly. Men and women, rich and poor, farmers and laborers, poets and peasants, have all come back, back to the land, back to home, and have begun to plan, plant, produce and build with a great industrial desire to restore and re-create.

They are rising above the ruins in the everyday toil of reconstruction because of that restless passion for industry and that imperishable love for home. They toil and struggle and strive and keep on building, and the way in which they have worked and toiled and built together is sublimely significant in democratic reconstruction. Other countries have talked about this thing a great deal—democratic reconstruction—but this is the obliteration of artificial distinctions, the permanent conquest of pettiness and self-seeking, the brotherhood and devotion of the common welfare, etc., etc., and alas, most of it is mere mockery to our eternal shame. It is easy to be democratic in the face of a common peril, but not at all easy to share with such simple humanity in the everyday toil of reconstruction. Yet this is just what France and Belgium have learnt to do, and without much talking, too. It is a long, hard task, and not nearly finished, but it was started magnificently, and has proceeded miraculously. How they hurried back after the armistice had been signed to clear away the ruins and what privations they bore, living in cellars and abandoned dugouts, ere they could start the bits of wood and brick and iron. They suffered anything so that they might be home in the country that they loved above all else. It is the triumph of the indomitable spirit of man over the material things of life. They rebuilt, re-created, re-constructed, in hardship and patience in the minute conquest of infinitesimal detail of that work that captured the heart and made the soul more than conquer. They rose up new machinery and ploughed the shattered land; the soil they loved so well, and rebuilt their homes in so great a spirit of energy that the record of results almost takes one's breath away. Aristocrats, artisans, workers, all animated by precisely the same spirit, working together in precisely the same way; there are no upper classes working with lower classes there. No one stooping to unusual concessions—nothing of the sort; all have suffered together and now feel they must rebuild together. You may call it what you will, but it is brotherhood; and in this spirit of toiling and working will they rise from the ruins of that ruthless devastation and reconstruct, rebuild, and recreate triumphantly together.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF RHEUMATISM

Entirely Well After Six Weeks' Treatment With "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. AMEDEE GARCEAU 32 Hickory St., Ottawa, Ont. "I was for many years a victim of that terrible disease, Rheumatism. In 1913, I was laid up for four months with Rheumatism in the joints of the neck, hips and shoulders and was prevented from following my work, that of Electrician. I tried many remedies and was under the care of a physician; but nothing did me any good. Then I began to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a week I was easier, and in six weeks I was well. I went to work again. I look upon this fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives', as simply marvellous in the cure of Rheumatism, and strongly advise everyone suffering with Rheumatism to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial."

"ON HAVING OPINIONS. It is one of the encouraging facts of the times that a great many people are hesitating to express opinions. They are stopping long enough, at any rate, to think first. To be sure, it is a good thing to have opinions. People who do not have opinions are insipid, flat, and very nearly useless. 'It is better to omit a scream in the shape of a theory than to be entirely insensible to the ills and incongruities of life and take everything as it comes in a form of stupidity,' said Robert Louis Stevenson. Nevertheless the screaming may be too frequent and too loud. There has been a deal of it since the time of R. L. Stevenson, and even he would perhaps touch the matter cautiously were he writing now. For opinions too noisily expressed are an offence, and under certain conditions, a theory may become a nuisance. It is a wise man who in these days thinks before he talks. There was never a time when quiet thinking was so necessary or so desirable. And there was never a time when unthinking action, hasty judgments, and superficial opinions were less easy. Because the way to glory by obscure and obscure with perplexities, one instinctively discounts the man who says too much about it or claims to have found it too easily. The screaming theorist is still with us. He has ready views upon the social order, religion, law, politics, and declaims them, as he has always done. But while this is so, it is also a fact that a good many people are withholding judgment, or at least are taking time to consider. That is the encouraging thing. That is the times may be breeding, they are by their very uncertainty inviting a thoughtfulness which does not assert itself unduly. "Every man has a right to his own opinions," my neighbor tells me. Quite true; but like his other personal possessions they are to be shared with his fellows with decent reserve. Let us by all means have opinions, but let them be reasoned opinions. There is need of them, as never before, and material out of which to think people to emit screams. Rather it is a time to weigh things and in the secret as well as in the public places to evolve theories, clear, sane and positive that shall stand the test of tomorrow."

SEE WIZARDRY IN PRODUCTION OF VAST CROP

Imperial Press Delegates Declare Western Canada is a Land of the Future.

Moose Jaw, Sask., August 18.—The grain fields between Regina and Moose Jaw were traversed by automobile by the delegates to the Imperial Press conference this afternoon completing their tour of inspection of Western Canada's grain farms. In the last few days they have passed through several hundred miles of grain fields by motor in the course of their journey through Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The general opinion of the newspapermen of the party, many of whom have a practical knowledge of farming, is that there is a species of wizardry in the production of crops in Western Canada with a minimum of effort and expense. "It is a land of the future, and very immediate future," one delegate expressed it.

The reception in Moose Jaw occupied an hour or so, and took the form of a garden party at the Canadian Pacific railway gardens, at which Mayor Hamilton was the host. His brief address of welcome was responded to in kind by Sir Frank Newsome, publisher of the Strand Magazine, London, and other British newspapermen. The party left early for Calgary via Gleichen, at which point the newspapermen will be entertained with an Indian and wild west demonstration Thursday.

ALBERTA HAS TO PAY 6.48 FOR MONEY

Disposes of an Issue of Two Million Dollars to the United Financial Corporation.

Hon. C. R. Mitchell, provincial treasurer, Wednesday night, announced the sale of an issue of $2,000,000 of Alberta bonds to the United Financial Corporation at 96.58. The tender is on the basis of 6.48.

This is part of a borrowing of $7,000,000 planned by the province for this year for which the greater part of the money is already committed. Mr. Mitchell said that this was the highest of any bond issue tendered of which there were six. Two firms, R. A. Daly & Co. and W. A. MacKenzie & Co. quoted higher prices, but the tender was rejected as the bids were not complete and without restrictions. These bids were nothing more than options on 15 days for the money and 30 days for the second million and the bond holder was under no obligation to furnish the money and go through with the deal. Accordingly the highest unconditional offer was accepted.

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held last week, with the President, Mr. W. J. Kirby, in the chair, and many of the representative men of the village and district in attendance. Two questions of vital importance to the village were under consideration. The very urgent need of a telephone line across the Saskatchewan River, and the construction of a telephone line, and the opening up of an exchange office in the village. LOCAL NEWS

Schools re-open on Monday next.

Miss Edith Jarvis left on Monday for Winnipeg, where she will be married on her arrival to F. W. Baker. Her home will be at St. Martin, Manitoba.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitehouse and family left Saturday for their new home in Nelson, B.C., followed by the best wishes of a host of friends in Red Deer and district.

Mrs. John McCalloch is visiting friends in Herschel, Saskatchewan, for a few weeks. Mr. McCalloch arrived in the Red Deer district a few months ago, and likes this district very much and intends to remain here.

John T. Watson motored up from Lethbridge and will visit for a few days. Mrs. Watson and children, who have been visiting with Mrs. Watson's mother, Mrs. Geo. Smith, of Willowdale, and with Mrs. Joe Henderson, Clearview, will return with Mr. Watson.

If you appreciate the work the Band has done this season, be present at the special Band concert to be given on the city square tomorrow (Thursday) night from 8 to 9:30, and don't forget your contribution. Give what you can and smile as you place it in the box, help the Band.

A meeting of the Memorial and Community Building Committee will be held in the city hall on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The business of this meeting will be to outline the campaign and other matters of importance will be discussed. All members are requested to be present.

Farmers are all busy cutting grain this week. The crop is earlier than it was last year, and considerable wheat and barley has already been cut. While the straw is short, owing to the long dry spell, still the yield is good, and the crops in the Red Deer district are up to the average, and many farmers claim they will have the best crop in their history.

SYLVAN LAKE NOTES

The past season has been one of the best in the history of the lake. All the cottages have been filled, and hundreds have been camping on the shores of the lake.

A great many Calgary visitors have been at the lake this summer. One of the most attractive places on the lake is occupied by the Naval Brigades of Alberta, and the boys attending have had the time of their lives. For the first two weeks in July over 40 boys from Edmonton attended the camp, and during the second two weeks 38, including leaders, were present from Calgary.

The boys had all the boating, swimming, fishing and games imaginable. The special prize offered to the boys by D. J. Young was won by Earl Newcombe, and the prize for the most popular member of the camp was won by Seaman Volt, formerly of the Canadian Navy.

After the boys left, the Girls' Brigade occupied the ground for two weeks. This was the first brigade of girls in Canada to attend a camp during the summer months. It was a great success, and many of the girls did not want to go home when the time came to leave. Many outings, fishing trips, picnics, etc., were arranged for, and practically all the girls learned to swim before going home.

Miss Edith Dunn won the special prize given by D. J. Young, president of the Calgary branch of the Navy League.

The camps were presided over by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Irvine. Reg. Rose and W. H. Mitchell were the instructors for the boys, and Mr. Mitchell, who was accompanied by Mrs. Mitchell, instructed the girls.

The camp had a large number of visitors during the past two or three weeks. Among those from Calgary were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Chaney, Mrs. George May, Miss Edith May, Cecil May, Mr. Timmons, Mr. and Mrs. Berkinshaw, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Watson, Mr. J. Ford, business manager of the Atholton, and Mrs. Ford, of Becker, of the Swift Canadian, and Mrs. Hewler, Mr. and Mrs. Sankster, Mrs. McKinney, Mr. W. B. Hickman, of the Ocean Acropolis Co., 354 Hillside, Miss Vivian Collins, Mr. Collins and Mr. Wilson Collins, and many others from various parts of the province.

Mr. W. H. Brooks looked after the cooking department, and also gave instructions in swimming.

The camp was held under the auspices of the Navy League of Canada, Alberta Division, of which P. Burns is president and J. A. Irvine secretary and treasurer.

Other visitors: Austin Hogner and wife, Mr. and Mrs. T. Owen Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Tanley, Mr. and Mrs. Bowick.

For ambulance (Stone's) call 172, 173.

Miss Colclough is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Fulton.

Mrs. Perigo and her son John, of Beloit, Ill., is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. A. Moore.

There will be a dance in the Ridgeview school house on Friday evening, August 27th. Everybody invited. Ladies please bring refreshments.

All representatives of the various organizations on the Memorial and Community Building Committee are requested to attend a meeting at the city hall on Friday evening.

MONEY.

Money, to become a Divine benediction, must be well earned, well held, and well spent.

Well earned. Here we cut to the quick of the economic and social question. The world needs to look to the ways in which it gains its money. Whatever is gained by extortion, chance, or trickery, is tainted with the sin of the pit. There can be no honesty in wealth unless it has been honestly earned, and a just equivalent rendered in return for it.

It must be well held. And its only true holding is that of stewardship. It is a radical principle of Christianity that all we possess we hold as stewards.

We have nothing save that we have received. And in this time of world-wide desire for riches at any price, this word must be pressed at all costs. Men have forgotten the truth of stewardship toward God and men.

It must be well spent. Money is meant to be spent, and not hoarded. Yet nothing is liked less by many than the idea of spending, save upon themselves. This is probably because the idea is associated with "parting" with a possession.

This is a false estimate of true spending. When spending in real it becomes sowing. This is the thought of St. Paul in more than one passage. "The sower sows sparingly shall reap sparingly. If men can come to see this radical truth, it will change entirely their outlook upon life.

Money in this view becomes a living thing, capable of a beneficent and vital reproduction and augmentation. We need the view that great causes resemble soil which cries for the seed, and that in proportion as we respond to the cry we ensure a great harvest.

LOCAL NEWS

Schools reopen in Monday next.

Miss Blanche Jarvis left on Monday for Winnipeg where she will be married on her arrival to Mr. W. Baker. Her home will be at St. Martin, Manitoba.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitcomb and family left Saturday for their new home in Calgary. Mr. Whitcomb is the wish of a host of friends. In Red Deer and district.

Mr. John McCulloch is visiting friends in Hershell, Saskatchewan for a few weeks. Mr. McCulloch is a resident in the Red Deer district a few months ago and likes this district very much and intends to remain here.

John T. Watson returned from his trip to the west and will start for a few days. Mrs. Watson and children will have been visiting with Mrs. Watson's mother, Mrs. G. W. Watson, of Willowdale, and with Mrs. J. T. Watson, Clearview, will return with Mr. Watson.

If you appreciate the work the Band has done this season, be present at the special band concert to be given on the city square tomorrow (Thursday) night from 8 to 9:30, and don't forget your contribution. Give what you can and you will be in the box.

A meeting of the Memorial and Community Building Committee will be held in the city hall on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The business of the meeting will be to discuss the campaign and other matters of importance will be discussed. All members are requested to be present.

Farmers are all busy cutting grain this week. The crop is earlier than it was last year, and considerable wheat and barley has already been cut. While the straw is short, owing to the long dry spell, the yield is good and the crop in the Red Deer district are up to the average and many farmers claim they will have the best crop in their history.

SYLVAN LAKE NOTES

The past season has been one of the best in the history of the lake. All the cottages have been filled, and hundreds of people have come to the shores of the lake.

A great many Calgary visitors have been at Sylvan Lake this summer. One of the most attractive places on the lake is occupied by the Naval Hotel, and the boys attending have had the time of their lives. For the first two weeks in July over 40 boys from Edmonton attended the camp and during the second two weeks 68, including leaders, were present from Calgary. The boys and the boys attending swimming, fishing and games, including the special prize offered to the winner by D. J. Young, was won by Earl Newcombe and the prize for the most popular member of the camp was won by Seamus Vail, formerly of the Canadian Navy.

After the boys left, the girls, Brigade occupied the ground for two weeks. This was the first brigade of girls in Canada to attend a camp during the summer months. It was a great success and many of the girls did not want to go home when the time came to leave. Many outings, fishing trips, picnics, etc., were arranged for, and practically all the girls learned to swim before going home.

Miss Eileen Dunn won the special prize given by D. J. Young, president of the Calgary branch of the Navy League.

The camps were presided over by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Irvine, Reg. Rose and W. E. Mitchell were the instructors for the boys, and Mr. Mitchell, who was accompanied by Mrs. Mitchell, instructed the girls.

The camp had a large number of visitors during the past two or three weeks. Among those from Calgary were Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Spence, Mr. and Mrs. Chancy, Mrs. George May, Miss Edith May, Cecil May, Mr. Timmons, Mr. and Mrs. Herlihy, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Watson, Mr. H. Ford, business manager of the Alberta and Mrs. Ford, Mr. Becker, of the Swift Canadian, and Mrs. Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, Mrs. McKinnon, Mr. W. R. Hickman, of the Queen's Hotel Co., Mr. Hillecks, Miss Vivian Collins, Mr. Collins and Mr. Wren Collins, and many others from various parts of the province.

Mr. W. H. Brooks looked after the cooking department, and also gave instructions in swimming. The camp was held under the auspices of the Navy League of Canada, Alberta Division, of which P. Barnes is president and J. A. Irvine secretary and treasurer.

Other visitors, Austin Hoyer and wife, Mr. and Mrs. T. Owen Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Tansley, Mr. and Mrs. Bewick.

For marriages (Hespero) call 172.

Miss Coleman is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. T. Watson.

Mrs. McNeill and Miss Allen are the guests of Mrs. M. J. Wilson.

Mrs. Ewing and Mrs. John, of Hershell, are visiting her sister, Mrs. J. T. Watson.

There will be a dance in the Bridge school house on Friday evening. The dance will be given by the ladies of the Bridge school.

All representatives of the various organizations on the Memorial and Community Building Committee are requested to attend a meeting at the city hall on Friday evening.

MONEY

Money is becoming a divine household word. It is a word that is heard and well known. It is a word that is heard and well known. It is a word that is heard and well known.

There is no honest wealth unless it has been honestly gained. It is a word that is heard and well known. It is a word that is heard and well known. It is a word that is heard and well known.

It is a radical principle of Christian life that all we possess we hold as stewards. It is a word that is heard and well known. It is a word that is heard and well known. It is a word that is heard and well known.

When spending is real, it becomes a saving. This is the thought of St. Paul in more than one passage. It is a word that is heard and well known. It is a word that is heard and well known. It is a word that is heard and well known.

It is a radical principle of Christian life that all we possess we hold as stewards. It is a word that is heard and well known. It is a word that is heard and well known. It is a word that is heard and well known.
